

Northdoor plc and Cenata announce strategic partnership

A new partnership strengthening Northdoor's reinsurance technology and integration offering for insurers and reinsurers

24th March 2026, London. Northdoor plc and Cenata have announced a strategic partnership designed to bring advanced cloud-native outwards reinsurance technology and services to the global insurance market.

The partnership combines CenataSure's specialist technology with Northdoor's deep experience in insurance transformation, systems integration and delivery. Together, the two organisations will support insurers and reinsurers seeking to modernise their reinsurance operations through efficient implementation and integration services. The initial focus will be on the UK insurance market, with opportunities to support clients more broadly over time.

Under the agreement, Northdoor joins the Cenata Partner Programme as both an introducing partner and a services and systems integration partner for the CenataSure platform. The partnership expands Northdoor's ability to support clients with additional specialist capability in the outwards reinsurance space, while complementing the broader ecosystem of technologies and partners Northdoor works with across the insurance market.

Northdoor brings more than 25 years of insurance industry expertise to the partnership, helping clients implement and integrate new technology into complex operational environments.

In addition to delivering implementation services, the companies will work together to develop an integration between NdexInsure, Northdoor's inwards policy administration platform, and CenataSure. This integration is intended to create a more connected technology environment for insurers, supporting improved data flow and operational efficiency across both inwards and outwards reinsurance processes.

The partnership also creates opportunities to extend the combined offering into additional markets over time.

David Ballard, Deputy CEO at Northdoor, said:

"We are delighted to be partnering with Cenata and to be extending the range of specialist solutions and services we can bring to our clients. CenataSure adds further strength to our reinsurance offering, and we look forward to working together to help insurers and reinsurers modernise their operations."

Nick Freer, Managing Director at Cenata, said:

"Our partnership with Northdoor supports our continued growth while helping ensure clients benefit from trusted delivery and integration expertise. Northdoor's experience in insurance and reinsurance makes them a valuable addition to our growing partner ecosystem."

About Cenata

Cenata is a specialist insurance technology company focused on transforming outwards reinsurance operations for the global insurance industry. The company has developed CenataSure, a cloud-native outwards reinsurance management platform, designed to automate complex reinsurance processes, provide real-time analytics, and support regulatory and operational requirements across the London and international insurance markets.

About Northdoor

Northdoor is an award-winning, IT consultancy firm in London that helps organisations drive value from their business assets. With over 30 years of experience serving blue-chip companies, Northdoor holds multiple accreditations from the largest of technology vendors including Microsoft and IBM. They offer design, implementation, and support services via our own internal technology practices which include Data Platform, Collaboration, Cloud Computing, Security, BI & AI, and Applications